“An exceptionally dedicated and thorough barrister: you can count on her to leave no stone unturned and to get to the bottom of any problem you may have. She is bright, talented, and extremely committed to her cases. A natural leader, and a real asset to any legal team.” The Legal 500 2023 (Tier 3)

Samantha is a highly regarded and in-demand multi-disciplinary barrister who practises in personal injury and clinical negligence, health and safety, construction, commercial, regulatory and disciplinary law and public law. She is recognised in the legal directories for her thoroughness, forensic analysis of the evidence and her personable ability to lead and work as a team. Samantha is regularly led by silks in high-profile, complex matters. She frequently acts as sole counsel. She acts for a range of clients from individual claimants and companies to insurers, government departments, local authorities, and quasi-governmental bodies. She is a strong advocate and tactician, benefitting from extensive court and trial experience. Samantha was appointed to the Treasury Panel of Junior Counsel (C Panel) in 2018.

Before joining the Bar, Samantha achieved a distinction in her LLM from McGill University and, most notably, undertook a Judicial Assistantship at the Constitutional Court of South Africa.

Inquests

She is incredibly thorough, personable and very good at encouraging the team and keeping everyone on top of their work. "She is an exceptionally hard-working barrister and never misses any detail." Chambers and Partners 2022 (Up and Coming)

"Super bright, able to handle vast amounts of information and material, and grasps issues quickly. Always cuts through to the heart of a matter, is concise and with punchy written work. Works extremely hard and never seems to run out of energy." The Legal 500 2022 (Tier 3)

Samantha is a well-regarded inquest barrister due to her substantial inquest experience in Article 2 inquests, inquests concerning fatal accidents, clinical negligence, mental health and deaths of children. She acts on behalf of companies, governmental bodies, quasi-governmental bodies and families. She has developed particular experience in high profile inquests concerning multi-agency failings which have resulted in the deaths of children. Samantha has risen through the ranks of the legal directories over the last three years; she is now one of the most junior people recognised in Tier 3 of The Legal 500 for Inquests and Inquiries and recognised in Chambers 2022 in the 'Up and Coming' category.

Samantha regularly becomes involved at an early stage of proceedings to advise clients on disclosure, procedure and strategy. Samantha is very familiar with providing advocacy at pre-inquest reviews and final hearings and she attends site visits. She is well versed in procedure and case law of the coroner's jurisdiction. Samantha's practice in public law, personal injury and clinical negligence means that she is well placed to act in judicial reviews of coroner's decisions and civil proceedings arising; she frequently advises on such matters.
