"Absolutely at the cutting edge; solid reliable and innovative." Chambers and Partners

Shaman's practice covers several fields of commercial and common law with his costs practice bridging over both fields. Most recently he has been regularly involved in injunctive relief in the High Court and is heavily engaged in group action in the Grenfell civil proceedings on behalf of 85 claimants, and the group action of professional rugby players against World Rugby and other governing bodies. He is regularly in the High Court and Senior Courts Costs Office and receives instructions domestically and internationally. He is a frequent speaker at most key seminars on the costs calendar. He teaches advocacy for Lincoln's Inn and has been ranked as a leading junior for many years. He was a contributing editor to Sweet & Maxwell's Greenslade on Costs (2009-2017), he is the editor of our Costs Newsletter (3+9 = Costs) and is a contributing editor to Thomson Reuters' "Costs & Funding following the Civil Justice Reforms: Questions & Answers", The White Book. He is a qualified mediator and is an appointed deputy district judge.

Alternative Dispute Resolution

Shaman prides himself on his soft and interpersonal skills which, in the context of advocacy in alternative dispute resolution (ADR), are deployed to extract a positive outcome in situations which appear to be irrecoverable.

As a barrister, he has extensive experience of commercial litigation mediation, international arbitration, and civil liability claims resolved through ADR including joint settlement meetings and round table meetings both for multi-party and group litigation. Shaman is particularly highly regarded for costs mediations and is regularly sought out as an expert costs mediator. He has further undertaken specialist mediator training for paper-based provisional assessments.

Recommendations

- "Down to earth and does not mince his words. He embraces technology and has a good drafting style." "Shaman goes above and beyond." (Chambers and Partners 2022)
