"An exceptionally dedicated and thorough barrister: you can count on her to leave no stone unturned and to get to the bottom of any problem you may have. She is bright, talented, and extremely committed to her cases. A natural leader, and a real asset to any legal team." The Legal 500 2023 (Tier 3)

Samantha is a highly regarded and in-demand multi-disciplinary barrister who practises in personal injury and clinical negligence, health and safety, construction, commercial, regulatory and disciplinary law and public law. She is recognised in the legal directories for her thoroughness, forensic analysis of the evidence and her personable ability to lead and work as a team. Samantha is regularly led by silks in high-profile, complex matters. She frequently acts as sole counsel. She acts for a range of clients from individual claimants and companies to insurers, government departments, local authorities, and quasi-governmental bodies. She is a strong advocate and tactician, benefitting from extensive court and trial experience. Samantha was appointed to the Treasury Panel of Junior Counsel (C Panel) in 2018.

Before joining the Bar, Samantha achieved a distinction in her LLM from McGill University and, most notably, undertook a Judicial Assistantship at the Constitutional Court of South Africa.

Regulatory and Disciplinary

Samantha is a strong regulatory tribunal advocate who is instructed to prosecute and defend in regulatory matters by regulators, registrants and the Professional Standards Authority (PSA). Samantha is instructed by the PSA to advise and act in appeals under s29 of the National Health Service Reform and Health Care Professions Act 2002 in the High Court as sole counsel.

Samantha established her practice by taking a six-month secondment at the Nursing and Midwifery Council (NMC), appearing in over 15 complex multi-day substantive hearings and numerous interim order and review applications. She has since advised and acted in complex and high-profile regulatory matters before the NMC, the General Optical Council, the Health and Care Professions Council and the PSA.

Samantha's practice in this area is strengthened by her high value and complex clinical negligence and inquest work.

Cases of note:

- HCPC v Helen Winter - Defended a clinical psychologist who previously worked at Kids Company. It was found that she offered drugs to a client outside of working hours, took drugs in her personal time, and further breached boundaries with service users. Registrant avoided being struck off and was given a 12-month suspension order.
- NMC v Butterworth and Billington - Prosecuted in an eight-day two-hander matter, acting on her own. Two nurses made numerous racist remarks on ward and displayed other unprofessional behaviour towards colleagues and in front of patients. Both were struck off from the NMC register.

Recommendations
