"Ian is a brilliant advocate" Chambers and Partners 2024

Ian was awarded the Legal 500 Bar Awards junior of the year for Court of Protection and community care in 2023. He is one of the country's leading specialists in mental capacity, medical treatment disputes and has a broad practice in public, human rights and regulatory law.

Outside of the Court of Protection, Ian advises and acts in safeguarding cases in respect of both adults and children. Sport, education and criminal justice issues feature frequently in his cases. Ian's inquest practice often involves highly sensitive cases with a mental health element.

Ian's practice has crossed borders. Ian is frequently instructed by charities, non-governmental organisations (NGOs) and companies with an international reach, especially in respect of safeguarding matters. Ian has been instructed by, or worked alongside, lawyers from Scotland, the United States, Canada, the Crown Dependencies and British Overseas Territories.

Ian was one of the first barristers to be ranked by Chambers and Partners for his work in respect of independent investigations. In addition, he is commissioned to provide training to statutory organisations and in the private sector.

Ian sits as HM Assistant Coroner for Kent, is a chair and member of the Football Association's Safeguarding Review Panel and is Legally Qualified Chair and Hearing Body Panel Member for British Equestrian.

Court of Protection - Property and Affairs

Ian has acted in Court of Protection cases at every level, including in the Supreme Court. Ian is instructed in the most serious cases which the Court of Protection hears, often before a Tier 3 (High Court) judge. Ian is regularly instructed in cases against leading counsel as a junior alone.

The majority of Ian's property and affairs work is on behalf of deputies and often involves financial safeguarding issues. However, Ian has advised on a diverse range of cases from civil claims against attorneys to the purchase and adaptation of property. Ian has appeared frequently for the Office of the Public Guardian throughout his time in the Court of Protection.

Cases of note:

- The Public Guardian v TW, KW, HF, SC* [2016] EWCOP 18 - The approach to be taken in cases as to capacity to make decisions to revoke a lasting power of attorney.
