

Welcome to the May 2021 Mental Capacity Report. Highlights this month include:

(1) In the Health, Welfare and Deprivation of Liberty Report: a judgment looking beyond the diagnosis, paying for sex and the Court of Protection, navigating autism and indoctrination and relevant updates about visiting guidance in relation to care homes;

(2) In the Property and Affairs Report: a staunch judicial defence of Banks v Goodfellow, Child Trust Funds and capacity, and updates from the OPG;

(3) In the Practice and Procedure Report: discharging a party without notice, the white leopard of litigation capacity and CoP statistics;

(4) In the Wider Context Report: DNACPR decisions during COVID-19, litigation capacity in the civil context, and the interaction between capacity and the MHA 1983 in two different contexts;

(5) In the Scotland Report: the new Mental Welfare Commission practice guidance on capacity, rights, and sexual relationships. Our Scottish team has been too busy making law in different countries to write more this month, but will bring updates next month about legislative developments on the cards as the new Scottish administration finds its feet.

You can find our past issues, our case summaries, and more on our dedicated sub-site here, where you can also find updated versions of both our capacity and best interests guides. We have taken a deliberate decision not to cover all the host of COVID-19 related matters that might have a tangential impact upon mental capacity in the Report. Chambers has created a dedicated COVID-19 page with resources, seminars, and more, here; Alex maintains a resources page for MCA and COVID-19 here, and Neil a page here.

Consenting Adults - capacity, rights and sexual relationships

The Mental Welfare Commission for Scotland has published Consenting Adults - capacity, rights and sexual relationships, an updated version of its 2012 good practice guide on capacity and sexual relationships with the assistance of Deirdre Hanlon and Karen Kirk, founders and partners of the solicitors firm Kirk Hanlon. The update is comprehensive and this time also includes content on social media and internet use.

It acknowledges that people with mental illness, dementia, learning disability or related conditions have the same human rights as anyone else to sexual expression, sexual relationships marriage and children but that where they lack capacity to make informed decisions this may make them vulnerable and at greater risk of abuse, exploitation or other serious consequences. The guidance therefore seeks to navigate the complicated ethical and legal issues associated with this when balancing rights and risks with a view to respecting the person’s autonomy but also identifying where protective intervention is lawful, necessary and proportionate. At the same time, it adopts an applied approach in considering real life potential situations. There are sections identifying guiding principles to make these decisions, setting out the legislative and human rights framework in Scotland, assessing capacity and risk and other factors before going on to specifically consider marriage and civil partnership, social media and internet use, capacity, consent and the criminal law, staff knowledge, values, attitudes and practice, adult protection duties and interventions.

Clearly written and with helpful case studies it is a welcome update to badly needed guidance in this complex area. It draws on English case law,<sup>1</sup> there being only one reported case in Scotland of relevance to date,<sup>2</sup> the principles that underpin the operation of the Adults with Incapacity (Scotland) Act 2000, Mental Health (Care and Treatment) (Scotland) Act 2003 and Adult Support and Protection (Scotland) Act 2007, related ECHR and CRPD requirements and possible actions and interventions under the three Acts and the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1995.

Conferences

Members of the Court of Protection team are regularly presenting at webinars arranged both by Chambers and by others.

Alex is also doing a regular series of 'shedinars,' including capacity fundamentals and 'in conversation with' those who can bring light to bear upon capacity in practice. They can be found on his website.

Neil is doing a (free) event for Dementia Carers on 11 June 2021 at 3pm. The online session provides an overview of carer rights in the context of dementia. It is part of the University of Manchester's research project which is analysing the changes to local authority support during Covid-19. Neil is particularly keen to understand the impact on carers over 70 looking after partners living with dementia at home. For details, and to book, see here.

Neil is doing a DoLS refresher (by Zoom) on 29 June 2021. For details and to book, see here.

Neil and Alex are doing a joint DoLS masterclass for mental health assessors (by Zoom) on 12 July 2021. For details, and to book, see here.

Advertising conferences and training events

If you would like your conference or training event to be included in this section in a subsequent issue, please contact one of the editors. Save for those conferences or training events that are run by non-profit bodies, we would invite a donation of £200 to be made to the dementia charity My Life Films in return for postings for English and Welsh events. For Scottish events, we are inviting donations to Alzheimer Scotland Action on Dementia.
