

6 Feb 2020, Kota Kinabalu Court Complex - Conference Room

MALAYSIAN CONSTRUCTION LAW AND DISPUTE RESOLUTION LANDSCAPE ARE THEY WORKING ?

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

By YAA Tan Sri David Wong Dak Wah
Chief Judge of Sabah and Sarawak

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Developers, Contractors, Project Consultants, Claims Consultant, Public Authorities involved in development and engineering, Advocates & Solicitors and Pupils-in-Chambers.

In Malaysia, most of the construction disputes are resolved through arbitration and statutory adjudication. According to the statistics from the AIAC, majority of the domestic arbitrations registered with the centre concerned the resolution of construction disputes. In the realm of statutory adjudication, the number of cases registered with the AIAC have seen a steady growth since the inception of CIPAA 2012, and it is expected the number of cases registered with the AIAC will reach 1000 in year 2020. It is therefore not an understatement to say that a change in the law and practice of arbitration and statutory adjudication will have a significant impact on the Construction ADR users and other stakeholders.

At Construction ADR Conference 2020, speakers comprising of experienced judges and construction practitioners will discuss the recent developments in the realm of construction arbitration and statutory adjudication, and analyse their implications arising from these developments from the perspectives of different stakeholders, such as contractors, employers, adjudicators, arbitrators and other players. The speakers will also give their views on how the current arbitration and adjudication law and practice may be further improved to better cater to the needs of the construction industry.

Mr Choon Hon Leng

Partner - Dispute Resolution
Raja, Darryl & Loh

Hon Leng's niche is in Infrastructure Projects with clients that are Government-owned infrastructure companies. He was appointed to draft and prepare the new Turnkey Construction agreement for the conversion of the then-existing Project Delivery Partner model for the Klang Valley Mass Rapid Transit 2 Project to a Turnkey Contractor model, making the contract (for both above-ground and underground portions) a fixed price contract and reducing the project cost from RM39.35 billion to RM30.53 billion.

Another such client is the Perumahan Rakyat 1Malaysia Corporation (PR1MA), an agency established under the Perumahan Rakyat 1Malaysia Act 2012 as part of the Government's initiative to address the need for sustainable housing and community living in urban areas in Malaysia. We were engaged to advise and review PR1MA's entire existing business, development and contractual models for the development of PR1MA projects. After completing the review, we provided the client with recommendations, worked with the client to modify/streamline the existing structure and then prepared the necessary documentation for implementation. This is a substantial exercise which is still ongoing and will have implications on the Government's affordable housing scheme/programme, which affects the lives of citizens in Malaysia. Construction law being Hon Leng's foundation, his experience in this regard includes pre-contract negotiation, contract documentation, project advice, post-dispute negotiation and formal dispute resolution (including construction adjudication under the Construction Industry Payment and Adjudication Act 2012).

He has also acted as lead counsel in several construction arbitrations, notably as the lead counsel for an arbitration held in the People's Republic of China involving Malaysian and Chinese entities where the proceedings were conducted wholly in Mandarin under the CIETAC arbitration rules. Over the years, Hon Leng has been invited as speaker and presented papers at construction conferences on various topics, including loss and expense claims, arbitration, dispute handling, project management and contractual issues.

Hon Leng has been elected as the Vice-President of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators (Malaysia Branch) for 2019-2020.
