PRACTICE AREAS

REGULATORY & DISCIPLINARY

Adept at assisting clients at all stages in regulatory matters, Rachel provides sound strategic preparatory advice and steady reassurance throughout every stage of the investigation and prosecution process from the earliest stages of an investigation through to trial.

Rachel spent 18 months as counsel in the Litigation & Dispute Resolution Department of a leading UK commercial firm, where she handled a range of complex commercial disputes. She also led the firm's Regulatory Team, advising both external corporate clients and teams across the firm on all aspects of regulatory regimes.

She acts at all levels in all matters of professional discipline and is experienced in Trading Standards, healthcare, education, RSPCA prosecutions and agricultural matters (including Gangmasters Licensing) as well as matters called before the Traffic Commissioner. Rachel has been instructed in matters of corporate manslaughter, corruption in public office and breaches of the Official Secrets Act. She advises on all aspects of corporate diligence, including anti money laundering and bribery and corruption.

INQUIRIES & INVESTIGATIONS

Rachel is currently instructed as counsel to the Grenfell Tower Inquiry.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Recent client quotes:

“sharp acquisition of complex technical detail...followed by an unshakeably persuasive delivery in court”

“both compassionate and sharp – a barrister who really listens and whose focus on achieving the right result is second to none”.
